Native Soul White Sage & Dragon's Blood Backflow Incense Cones

Barcode: 8901684617428

Product Description

Used for centuries by Native Americans in purifying rituals and cleansing ceremonies, the distinct clean scent of white sage is believed to drive away any bad spirits. Dragon's blood, which originates from the bright red resin produced by different species of trees, is also used in the same way to create a protection barrier and eliminate negative energies. This White Sage & Dragon's Blood Native Soul backflow cones have been blended perfectly together to create a calming atmosphere whilst restoring balance to the mind and soul. These cones have a small hole in the bottom which draws the smoke downwards unlike standard incense cones which push the smoke upwards. This means that these cones are perfect for using with our wide selection of backflow burners
